G. W. to Stage S. A. Tournament

George Washington To Stage a South Atlantic Championship Interscholastic Basketball Tournament—Dates Set As March 10, 11, 12—Probably Will Be Held at Central Coliseum.

George Washington University is staging a South Atlantic championship interscholastic basketball tournament, the first of its kind ever held in this city, on the dates of March 10, 11 and 12, if present plans carry. The tournament will be held in the Central Coliseum, where the Hatchetites play their home games and where the annual inter-high school basketball championship series is being staged this season.

The newly formed G. W. Club of George Washington, Eugene Underwood, jr., president, and last year's Hatchetite basketball captain, is acting as sponsor for the tournament.

The three-day affair will be run off somewhat similar to the basketball tournaments in the Middle West. Sixteen teams are to be invited to compete in the tourney.

It is planned the first year to limit the tournament to sixteen teams and in later years to expand to multiples of eight. The tournament will be divided into two sections of eight teams each. Eight high school teams will be playing against each other in the first section, or upper half, of the tournament and eight prep schools or private schools will play against each other in the lower section, or bracket.

The winner of the upper section will be known as the South Atlantic high school basketball champion. The winner of the lower section will be known as the prep school champion of the South Atlantic division.

The winners of the two sections will meet for the interscholastic championship of the South Atlantic division. The winning team will receive a championship plaque. Winners on the teams will receive G. W. U. medals.

Thoroughly representative high and prep school teams from Maryland, Virginia and the District have been invited to enter. The tournament is an invitation affair and is limited to 16 teams. Word has been received that the best Baltimore schoolboy teams are ready and anxious to put their strength against the Washington and Virginia lads in the tournament.

A. S. Melton, of the Maryland Interscholastic League, which embraces 18 Baltimore high schools and prep schools, recently wrote George Washington authorities saying the Baltimore representatives would be glad to accept any invitation offered to compete in the affair here.

It is expected that only the strongest Baltimore, Washington and Virginia schools will be invited. Bryan Morse, Director of Student Activities at George Washington University, is in charge of the affair and can give the schoolboy basketballers any information desired.

The tournament will be conducted three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Competent officials, the best that Baltimore and Washington can present, will be selected for handling the tournament.

On Thursday, March 10, the tournament will start at 10 a. m. Eight games will be run off from 10 o'clock to 6 p. m. on that day. Friday at 1 p. m. the first game of four will be played. Winners in the upper bracket as drawn will play through. Friday night the semifinal rounds will be played beginning at 8 p. m.

The final of the tournament will be staged on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. In all, there will be 15 games played in the tournament. There will be two afternoon sessions and one night session.

The G. W. Club stipulates that the basketball teams entered shall be restricted to eight, that each boy be under the age of 20, and that the boys be certified as bona fide students in good standing in the school for which they are playing.

The fact that the Baltimore schoolboy title event is just as close as that which Washington is now staging means that considerable interest will be manifested in the tournament, which will be held after the Baltimore and Washington champions are declared.

GIRLS' SWIMMING TEAM COMPETES WITH CENTRAL

The G. W. swimming team is going to hold a meet with Central High School at Central's pool, Thursday, February 17, in the afternoon. This is the first real test of the ability of our team, so the meet is looked forward to with great interest by all connected with girls' swimming at G. W.

SWIMMING MEET WITH WASHINGTON AND LEE

Will Try To Arrange Meet With Naval Base at Hampton Roads, Virginia.

The biggest meet in the early part of George Washington's swimming schedule is with Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Va., on the day after inauguration, March 5. Seven days later the Washington and Lee team will have a return meet with George Washington at Washington, D. C. H. C. Young, manager of the G. W. team, believes that if practice is maintained during the next three weeks with the vigor and spirit that has characterized the previous practice, George Washington surely will be the victor in the meet.

An attempt has been made to secure a meet with the Naval Base team at Hampton Roads. As yet nothing definite has been arranged, although the Naval Base team seems highly in accord with such a meet.

George Washington is preparing to participate in the South Atlantic meet, which will be held in Baltimore, Md., on March 24. This is the real classic in swimming and allied aquatic sports for the southeastern colleges. Victory in this meet is the real objective of all the University swimming teams in this section of the country.

A tentative team has been selected by the manager, who has been acting in the capacity of coach since the beginning of the season. The present team, however, is not final, and there probably will be some additions before the meet with Washington and Lee. A call is made to all swimmers in the University to come out to the support of the team.

The captain of the team will be selected Monday night, February 14.

ARCHITECTS JOIN IN UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT

Compares to Famous Beaux Arts Ball or Pagan Route of Greenwich Village.

At the architects' party, which was held on Wednesday evening, February 2, in the chapel of Lisner Hall, a most novel and unique form of entertainment was presented. In fact, the party almost approached in form one of the famous Beaux Arts Ball or the Pagan Route of Greenwich Village, in that all the architects participating were garbed in what we are informed is the regulation costume for all architects, namely smocks and tams. Of devious and wondrous design were these smocks, for they were decorated in everything from quiet and regulation tee squares and triangles to bizarre representations of owls, cats, rabbits and other animals of uncertain origin.

The architects sure had a great time. They danced to the lively strains of Architect Jones's peppy work on the piano and the lively strains of jazz as presented to their ears by one Victrola. All present had a good time, and from the enthusiasm displayed, other events of as interesting a nature may be predicted for the future.

BIG DRIVE TO ASSURE A. AND S. DINNER SUCCESS

Several Fraternities and Sororities to Give Vaudeville Acts During Banquet.

"The success of the banquet of the Arts and Science Department depends wholly upon the enthusiastic support of the undergraduates of that department. This banquet is the affair that will start the ten days of celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of George Washington University, and the undergraduates of the Arts and Science Department must make it an overwhelming success," said Earl Shea, chairman of the Banquet Committee, early this week, as returns were beginning to come in. President Shea continued: "I expect the Senior Class especially to back this banquet and set an example for the others by one hundred per cent attendance. I was glad to hear that at a recent Frosh meeting one hundred tickets were taken."

The committee in charge of the banquet is hard at work and all arrangements are practically complete. The vaudeville acts to be presented by several of the frats and sororities are being rehearsed and promise moments of entertainment. The speakers are all statesmen of importance, and they should have valuable messages for those present.

Arrangements have been made to have chaperones at Lisner Hall on the night of the banquet for the benefit of visitors or women who care to go to the Willard in a body.

Tickets are on sale throughout the University. All presidents of classes and organizations in the Arts and Science Department have the tickets for sale, and tickets may also be obtained at the Librarian's desk in Lisner Hall.

The committee feels confident that the evening will be a grand success insofar as a good menu and program are concerned, and now look to the student body to make it a success financially. Friends of the University will be welcomed and are urged to attend, but all students are urged to be present.

The banquet will start promptly at 9 p. m., Saturday night, February 19, in the ballrooms of the Willard Hotel, Fourteenth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue.

RUMMAGE SALE TO BE HELD IN MARCH

Discuss Senior Projects at Two Meetings of the Arts and Sciences
Senior Classes.

The senior classes of the Arts and Sciences Department of the University held a business meeting in the chapel of Lisner Hall Monday evening, February 7, at 7 o'clock. When President Shea, of the Columbian College, called the meeting to order the rolls of the several colleges were called and the reports of the several officers given. President Shea then stated the business of the meeting, which was to consider ways and means of raising funds with which to pay the expenses of Senior Week. After much discussion it was decided to hold the postponed rummage sale some time between March 1 and 15; if a suitable place could be found. The vice president, Miss Martha Waring, of Columbian College, was made chairman of a joint committee from Columbian and Teachers' Colleges to manage the affair.

President Shea then called for a report from the ring and pin committee, which presented several designs, and after consideration and some discussion it was decided to have the pins and rings of similar design, namely, the University seal on an oval base. It was agreed by Teachers' and Columbian Colleges that this form was to be official for them, as the Engineering School reported that they had adopted a pin. The meeting adjourned at 8, after the subjects of the Senior Prom and a senior party had been put before those present for consideration before the next meeting, which, according to President Shea, will be held about February 15.

SENIORS' PICTURES.

It has been announced that the name of no senior will appear in the Cherry Tree who does not have his picture made. Sittings can be had for photographs up to and including February 15. Engagements must be made with the photographer in advance. This is the last call.

SPANISH CLUB DEFINES MEMBERS

Medical Student Addresses Club on South American Countries, Customs and Characteristics.

Speaking, colored picture slides and dancing featured the meeting of El Circulo Espanol Friday night, February 4, in the Assembly Room of 2017 G Street. About 30 members were present and an equal number of visitors, many of whom became members before the close of the evening.

Mr. Pasalaqua, president of the society, delivered in Spanish a very impressive speech in which he likened the importance of the two languages—Spanish and English—and told of their widespread usage. He discussed the importance of Spanish in commercial life and enumerated the many classical works of the Spanish—proving that it is equally as useful and versatile in art and literature as in its business value.

One of the native sons from South America, and who is a student in the Medical School of George Washington University, then made a talk on the republics of South America, depicting their forms of government and general characteristics. With the aid of picture slides, he then discussed the views of the principal points of interest in Mexico and the South American countries. It was evident from slides, which he presented that these countries contain many beautiful and historical monuments and scenes.

In a previous meeting of the club a committee had been appointed by the president to consider the feasibility of having an insignia for the members of the club, which would be worn by them for fraternal benefits. The chairman of this committee reported favorably upon the work being done, and stated that at the next meeting of the club he hoped to have several sample pins from which the members could select. This badge can only be worn by the active members of El Circulo Espanol and certain other stipulations and regulations will be formulated which will make the wearing of this pin an honor and will give to the wearer a significance in the University.

It has been decided by El Circulo Espanol that membership shall consist of three constituent bodies of George Washington University. First, there will be active members, including those who belong to the club proper and engage actively in its meetings and interests. These are eligible to wear the insignia badge. The second class will be honorary members and will consist of Spanish-speaking representatives from other countries on governmental duty in Washington, and the professors and faculty of the University. The third group is the associatory class, and comprises the alumni of the University and those who followed courses in Spanish while attending George Washington. These three bodies will be members of the greater El Circulo Espanol which is to follow out of the widespread popularity and success which the club is now enjoying.

ARRANGING TRACK MEETS FOR SPRING

G. W.'s First Meet Will Probably Be at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

The George Washington University track team is busily engaged at work training for the many track meets they have been invited to participate in. The first meet the team will take part in will be the Johns Hopkins affair, to be held February 26 at the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore. The best colleges in the country will be represented in this annual meet. Harvard, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Yale, Princeton, Penn State, Georgia Tech, George Washington and several others will be represented by their best performers.

Early in March Catholic University will hold its second annual meet. This promises to be a big affair, judging by the success of last year's efforts.

The South Atlantic Intercollegiate track meet has been secured by Georgetown University and will be staged on the Georgetown field on May 14. Other universities have been invited, so that most of the larger schools, as well as the S. A. I. A. A. institutions, will be represented.

PROM TICKETS WILL ADMIT TO JUNIOR PLAY

Details Complete for Production of "The Truth"—Ladies Advised
Not To Miss It.

The favored students of George Washington University who use to the utmost the brains and excellent discretion that a kind Providence has bestowed upon them, and who, using these same instruments of wisdom, buy a ticket for the incomparable, magnificent, wonderful, thrilling and epoch-making JUNIOR PROM, will be given two tickets to the Junior Play at the Central High School on the night of February 28, 1921, at 8.15 p. m. Holders of Prom tickets, upon presentation at the door of Mr. Rauscher's keen boarding house of a mere slip of cardboard entitling them to admission to the social event of the season, will be handed a petite envelope containing two tickets to the play.

The arrangements for the play are now nearing completion, according to "Doc" Nagle, master of ceremonies. The cast has been working out for the last week or so, learning the different postures and words as doled out by the director; the auditorium of the Central High School has been secured through the gracious consent of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia, to which board the Junior Week Committee, acting for the Junior Class, wishes to express its thanks; the sets and furniture and other sundry jiggers that are necessary for the occasion are almost all bought, and the whole affair is "looking up."

The cast includes the cream of the talent of the University. Each student who has a part in the play is admirably suited to the role, most of the members being experienced actors. The rehearsals are being held almost

FRESHMEN PLAN TO HAVE SECOND MIXER

Will Have Box at Junior Prom; Urges
Frosh To Participate in Coming Centennial Exercises.

The freshmen of Columbian College met last Friday night in the Assembly Room of Lisner Hall and decided to hold their second mixer on the night of Friday, February 11, 1921. A large and spirited crowd turned out, and many subjects were discussed and much business accomplished.

President Earle Manson called the meeting to order and presided. The first business to be discussed was the arrangement of a freshman box at the Junior Prom, and a committee composed of Preece, McPherson, Mayers and Thomas, with Alec Preece as chairman, was appointed to secure the funds for the box. The decoration of the box will be in the hands of Misses Elsie McGarvin, Ruth Phillips and Maxine Rolle.

The success of the first frosh mixer, and the desire to welcome the new freshmen who entered the University in February, were the reasons for the decision of the class to hold another mixer. The mixer will be held in the Assembly Room of Lisner Hall, 2023 G Street Northwest, Friday night, February 11, at 8.30 p. m. Efforts will be made to have this mixer surpass the first, which was held in December and proved a means of bringing closer together a large number of the frosh. Excellent music and refreshments will be provided for the second mixer, and efforts will be made to attract a record crowd to the affair.

President Manson urged the class to support the Arts and Sciences banquet, to be held at the Willard February 19, and those present responded by taking about 100 tickets for the affair. A committee for the distribution and sale of tickets to the freshmen was appointed.

The freshman prom was discussed and various ballrooms considered. The frosh intend to put across a first-class prom and make it both a social and financial success. The prom probably will be given about the first week after Easter.

An appeal to the men of the class to come out for track was made, and considerable interest in this sport was manifested by those present. Secretary Elmer Louis Kayser dropped in to the meeting and expressed his satisfaction with the spirit and enthusiasm shown.

Wrestling

Wrestling is one of the oldest sports and one best adapted to increase physical perfection. Beginning with the ancient Greeks and Romans, it has endured the use of centuries and comes to us now a lasting and wholesome sport. Its popularity and importance in the present age is growing by leaps and bounds and is now becoming a fixed sport in most of the colleges of the United States. Not only is wrestling interesting to the participants, but it is quite as popular and exciting to the spectators. Like the Romans of old who gathered by the thousands in the Coliseum to watch the death fight of two gladiators, so we of today have still a little of that love of fight, an irresistible instinct to test the better man. It is thought by a few to be a barbarous and savage sport, but this is chiefly due to ignorance of the sport as it is conducted today by American colleges and the professional sporting world. The intercollegiate wrestling teams are judged by points alone, which enables a contest to be won without one man's back being put to the mat. This obviates the rougher side, but the exercise of muscular strength and brawn is still there and gives to the sport its claim for existence. Neither is wrestling restricted to one class of men, as are some sports. In collegiate teams there are generally eight classes, grading from 115 to 200 pounds. This makes it possible for every man to try out, although only eight men are picked for the team. Another asset to wrestling is that a large gymnasium is not needed to stage the matches. This, with the fact that hardly any especially adapted material is needed, makes it a desirable activity for any college not blessed with an adequate gymnasium. Recently the project of a wrestling team at G. W. was discussed. The question is under serious consideration, and needs only general favor of the student body to produce such a sport at the University. Talk it up.

The Offer of the College

The following was written by William De Witt Hyde, a graduate of Harvard University in the class of '79; it has been used as an inscription for the Buffalo Public Library. We believe it is of sufficient worth to quote it verbatim:

"To be at home in all lands and ages: to count Nature a familiar acquaintance, and Art an intimate friend: to gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and a criticism of your own: to carry the keys of the world's library in your pocket, and feel its resources behind you in whatever task you undertake: to make hosts of friends among the men of your age who are to be leaders in all walks of life: to lose yourself in generous enthusiasms and cooperate with others for the common ends: to learn manners from students who are gentlemen, and form character under professors who are Christians. This is the offer of the college for the best four years of your life."

Eddyings

How long will G. W. go on turning out products as a factory does and after giving them labels such as A. B. or L. C. B. pass them off on the public as symbols of American culture? The fault lies with those people who try to keep all romance out of school life and insist on being factory products.

The other day one of the gentlemen from the Hill, while at a Federation of Federal Employes' meeting, told a member who was questioning him that if the questioner did not say the U. S. was the finest in the world he would take off his coat and thrash him. Evidently this seemed to be his means of proving a point. Would it be treason to ask if the gentleman would have used the same proof if Jack Dempsey had been the man in the crowd?

While at dinner the other night we heard two students talking. Their conversation ran—

"Class 'night?"

"Yep."

"What'd the Prof. talk about?"

"Oh, about two hours."

Can this be true?

We are still anxiously awaiting our first student contrib. We started this column with the idea of being exclusive. Can it be that the students are cutting us purposely? We hope not.

There are vague rumors of uncertain origin floating about school to the effect that there is going to be a real show at the Centennial banquet. We hope that there is nothing improper in this show. The faculty finds it hard enough trying to keep its mind on its work.

BOOK REVIEW.

Main Street, by Sinclair Lewis, is very much the talk of the day. It seems to me like an etching of a town by Pennell, with a figure of a woman done on top of it in water colors by a first-year art school student. We wonder what Main Street thinks of "Main Street."

Now that "Jurgen" has been suppressed for almost a year, people are beginning to say that it is a great book. It is a pity there are so many people who are blind.

WOULD STOP THE DANCE.

'Tis reported from way out in Arizona that the state legislature proposes to put the soft, soft pedal on the jazz stuff at the university and in the public schools. G. W., accordingly, may expect a marked influx of Arizonians when this sad state comes into being, because no one can say that we "Hatchetites" don't star in the Terpsichorean art—Yea, bo.

FRATERNITIES PLAY
FIRST OF SCHEDULE

Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Chi Victors in First Two Games of Season's Basketball.

Interfraternity basketball opened with a rush on last Thursday, when Sigma Chi defeated Kappa Sigma and Delta Tau Delta defeated Phi Sigma Kappa at the Epiphany Gym. The game between Sigma Chi and Kappa Sigma was the more interesting of the two, and, as the referee afterward expressed it, "It was the best fight seen around here in some time."

Sigma Chi led off with a basket by Doherty in the first few minutes of play, and from then on succeeded in keeping the lead. Underwood and Roberts, both varsity men last year, were the main scorers for Sigma Chi and although there was no teamwork to speak of on either side, the game was a very fast one. The first half ended with the score 13 to 6 in favor of Sigma Chi. In the last half the Kappa Sigs played a much better game and held the Sigma Chis to one basket. Pond and Miller, of the Kappa Sigs, were the ones responsible for the majority of their scores and Hawley, who was substituted for O'Dell, demonstrated that football and basketball are somewhat alike. The game ended with the score 17-11 in favor of Sigma Chi.

When the Delta Tau Delta team walked on the floor it looked as if the freshman team of the University was playing, for Wood, Newby, Colburn and Chesney were the players. However, the Phi Sigma Kappa team put up a very good fight, and they also presented some very good players in Walters and Smead. Both of these men showed they knew the game. Chesney, of the Deltas, was the main scorer, and in the first half caged four baskets. The first half ended with the score 17-7 in favor of Delta Tau Delta. In the last half McCoy was substituted for Chesney and the Phi Sigs took advantage of this and played a very close game. The Deltas did not count from the floor during the last half, and the game ended with the score 21-14 in their favor.

Crowd Features Second Night.

If the size of the crowds attending the games and the spirit manifested during the first week is any indication, it appears that interfraternity basketball is here to stay at George Washington. More than 150 persons, a goodly number being of the fair sex, witnessed the games on the night of February 7. The teams matched were Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Alpha vs. Theta Delta Chi. Sigma Alpha Epsilon smothered Sigma Phi Epsilon in the first game, 35-0. The overwhelming victory was

Dear Stupid Steven: I have just come to college from the Far West and desire to joint a fraternity. I don't exactly know how to go about this business.

My father is a Senator, and I have a good-looking sister, and lotsajack and plenty of Ox. They also say that I am handsome, and all the girls seem to like my ways.

I brought along four trunks full of nice clothes, including a full dress suit. I drive an imported car, and my old man has private stock, and not in a corporation, either.

Will you please advise me how to make out my application and which is the best fraternity here?

the result of good teamwork and excellent goal shooting by Stevens and McAlister. Pease, the right forward for Sigma Alpha Epsilon, also played a good game. Sigma Phi Epsilon was out-classed from the very start, due to the inexperience of the men composing the team.

The hardest fought game of the season was between Kappa Alpha and Theta Delta Chi, Theta Delta Chi winning by the score of 32-11. Culligan did most of the scoring for Kappa Alpha, making three goals and one foul. Wright was the cleverest individual scorer for Theta Delta Chi, making eight goals. Vidmer made four goals and Ladd made three goals and two fouls. The game at times got so rough that both teams were repeatedly cautioned by the referee.

FACULTY TO HAVE BASEBALL TEAM

Profs to Chase Flys Was Decried at Last Meeting of the Faculty Club.

At the meeting of the Faculty Club of the University held on last Friday evening, several especially interesting addresses were delivered by M. H. C. Davis, one of the trustees, and Dr. Frank A. Hornaday, of the Medical School. Professor Doyle, the president of the Club, reported that there was much interesting discussion during the evening, the subject of which was asked to be withheld for the present.

The most important event was the presentation of a challenge by the Faculty of the Arts and Science Department to the Faculties of the Law and Medical Departments to a series of baseball games to commence in the early spring, to determine which of the several groups of instructors possessed the greater prowess in this sport. It is expected that these games will be full of interest to not only the faculty but also to the student body as a whole, for what student doesn't want to see his "Prof" chasing a fly as they, the students, do chase the elusive answer to the unexpected question on the examination paper.

It was also decided to invade another field of student activity, for the club is also planning to have a glee club, which intends to offer strong competition to the student glee club already in existence. Maybe the next joint concert will be between the Faculty Glee Club and that of the students. Who knows?

WANDERING GREEKS HOLD BIG BANQUET

Law Professors Praise Organization; Extend Invitation to Wandering Greeks to Affiliate.

The Wandering Greeks held a banquet at the Garden Tea House, Friday evening, February 4. This is the first function given by this organization since its recent formation. There are now twenty-five members belonging to this organization. Of these there were twenty-two at the banquet.

During the course of the evening Dean Ferson, Professor Wilson, Professor Lavery, and Professor Collier gave short speeches, in which they commended the new organization. They brought out the fact that the University has long been in need of an organization of this character, and spoke of the great things that it might hope to accomplish in the years to come. It was expressed that the faculty was heartily in accord with the motives behind the foundation of the new organization—the Wandering Greeks.

A brief business meeting was held after the dinner. The project of having a baseball team composed of the members of this organization, to compete with the other fraternity teams in the inter-fraternity series, was brought up and discussed. The whole body present was very much in favor of the plan, and in all probability there will be such a team composed of the wandering greeks. The subject of a house for the organization was also discussed, and a committee was appointed to take care of this project.

The present personnel of the Wandering Greeks is largely made up of students of the Law School. The organization wishes to correct this state of affairs and have the order representative of the whole University. In consequence of this the Wandering Greeks extend an invitation to all students in the University who belong to some national greek letter fraternity not maintaining a chapter at George Washington University to affiliate with them. All applications for membership should be addressed to Benjamin C. Clark, secretary.

LAW BANQUET WITH CENTENNIAL FUNCTIONS

The annual Law School banquet has been scheduled this year as a part of the Centennial jubilee, and it will consequently come much earlier than it has in the past. It will be held at Franklin Square Hotel, corner of Fourteenth and K Streets, at 7 p. m., February 19. Tickets will be $2.50 each, and can be obtained from the secretary of the Law School or from any member of the Law School Senate, which has charge of the dinner, according to custom. The dinner will be informal, and there will be fun for everyone.

Dean Roscoe Pound, of Harvard Law School, has been invited to attend the dinner as a special guest of the University. He will be one of the foremost speakers of the evening. The Law School is indeed fortunate in being able to secure for speaker a man of such fame as a legal scholar, teacher and writer. Dean Pound is considered among the best authorities of the country. He has not as yet announced his subject, but whatever he may have to say undoubtedly will be of great interest and value to all present.

Several other prominent lawyers will speak at the banquet, so that altogether this should be an event worthy of commemorating the Centennial of the University. As the seating capacity of the dining room is limited to 300, all those desiring to attend are urged to get their tickets early in order to be assured of reservations.

WESTERNERS OUTPLAY G. W. U. FROSH TEAM

Colburn Stars on G. W. Freshman Team; Making Only Basket in First Quarter.

In a fast and interesting game Western High School outplayed the George Washington University frosh 30-18, at the Central Coliseum, Ninth and Pennsylvania Avenue, Tuesday evening, February 8.

At the outset the guarding of both teams was so close that neither team was able to score a basket until Colburn broke the ice by caging a neat one from the side of the court. Previous to this, Burke had tossed two baskets from the 15-foot line. The work of the guards, Goldstein and Bob Newby, was exceptionally good this quarter; in fact, it was so good that Western was unable to cage a basket from the floor in this period. Bob Newby dribbled the ball the length of the court, but the ball refused to drop into the hoop. The period ended 4-2 in favor of the boys from across the creek.

The second half started with Colburn caging two baskets from the floor in the first minute and a half. After Burke caged one, Conard, unguarded, tossed a beautiful one-handed shot in from the extreme side of the court. Goldstein was not to be denied, and after repeated attempts from under the basket rolled one in. This period ended 19-16, with the G. W. frosh still on the small end.

In the last quarter Western's squad put in their best work by keeping the frosh to one floor goal scored by Butler. Goldstein was removed because four personal fouls had been chalked against his record. Browne was sent in to fill the vacancy. Western's basket-keepers caged five baskets in this era, making the final count read 30-18. The frosh failed to score from the 15-foot line out of six attempts.

Line-up and summary:

GEORGE WASHINGTON DOWNS ROANOKE FIVE

Eskew Stars for G. W.; Spears and Kinsey Receive Injuries During Easy Game.

The Roanoke five proved easy to the cagemen of George Washington University in the basketball battle staged Friday evening, February 4, at the Central Coliseum, Ninth and Pennsylvania Avenue. At no time were the Hatchettes in danger, as the half ended 17-9, and the game was called with G. W. on the healthy end of a 31-18 result.

George Washington counted first when Eskew knocked the ball in the basket from out of the midst of a group of players under his own goal. From then until after 15 minutes had passed the Washingtonians were having a comparatively easy time of it, making many shots at the basket, through the poor guarding of the visitors. Just before the end of the half the local defense opened enough to let the boys from Roanoke score their first floor goal and incidentally their only one in the first half. The first half ended 17-9, as Price had acquired 7 points from the 15-foot line in this period.

Bailey Springston, one of G. W.'s star forwards, was out of the line-up, as he had pulled a tendon in practice the night before, but his place was ably filled by Spears, who not only played like a veteran, but featured in several stellar plays.

In the second half the little fellow and the big center from Roanoke collided in the middle of the floor when Spears attempted to break up a dribble the opposing center was making. Both Spears and Kinsey were injured with cuts above the eye. The blood of Kinsey's wound ran into his eye, partially blinding him, so that he was removed in Mahler's favor. Eskew proved his worth in this game by putting the ball through the hoop five times, closely followed by Spears, who rang up a total of three, while Loehler accumulated two from scrimmage. Line-up and summary:

G. W. U.	Position	Roanoke

Loses to U. of Virginia.

In a fast and exciting game played Saturday evening, February 5, in the Central Coliseum, Ninth and Pennsylvania Avenue, the speedy University of Virginia squad defeated the G. W. quint, 30-23.

The Virginians started their second-string men in the first half, as the Virginia regulars had just come from Annapolis, where they had been beaten by Navy, 30-18. The reserves put up such a good game that they held George Washington to a 14-13 count at the end of the first half. Newman, of the visitors, figured in the stellar role in this half, caging 4 baskets from the floor, while Eskew featured for the locals by his passing game and the 4 points he registered from the floor at this time. Spears caged 6 out of 9 attempts from the foul line in this period.

The Hatchettes faced a different outfit in the final half, as Coach Lannigan put his regulars in the fray after the rest period. Carrington scored a basket, putting his teammates in the lead, 15-14. This was tied up by Spears' free toss. From here on it was an uphill battle for the team. The Hatchettes' only floor basket this period was caged by Chesney, who had been sent in for Eskew when the latter wrenched his knee. The visitors counted 7 baskets from scrimmage in this half. George Washington's last 3 points were secured by Boteler from the 15-foot line. Line-up and summary:

G. W. U.	Position	Virginia

ARCHITECTURAL CLUB.

At the monthly meeting of the Architectural Club, Louise Strother was elected vice president and Leota

Soars secretary, to succeed Ester Giltrude and Pauline Johnson, who are no longer attending the University. The club decided to have two pages in the Cherry Tree. A group picture will be taken about the 1st of March, and notices of the exact date will be sent to all members. It is earnestly desired that the picture will be of the entire club.

Owing to the success of the last "studio party," the architects have decided to have a social to celebrate the completion of every Beaux Arts problem. The next party will be held Wednesday, March 2, and a committee has been appointed to make plans for a "stunt" night.

The committee that was appointed to see Dean Hodgkins about the lights in the drafting room report a favorable interview, and all the engineers and architects will be glad to know that the entire drafting room soon will be equipped with drop lights.

GLEE CLUB PLANS TOUR; PROFIT BY CONCERT

Encouraged by the remarkable showing made by the George Washington University Glee Club at their first performance, when they engaged in a joint concert with the musical clubs of Columbia University, February 1, at the Washington Hotel, the members and backers of the club are anticipating a tour in the spring. Robert W. Colflesh, who managed the concert, announces that it was a financial as well as a social and musical success. All expenses were met and a substantial profit for the club treasury repaid the G. W. U. boys for their efforts.

The director of the George Washington Glee Club, Mr. King-Smith, is especially enthusiastic about the performance of his boys. With but ten weeks of practice, they compared favorably with the well-established clubs of Columbia, and showed the ability of George Washington University to appropriately enter the field of fine arts.

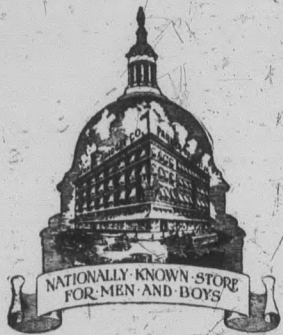

The friends and members of the club are now anxious to have the club make a short trip, probably during the Easter holidays. Several itineraries for the club have been considered. One of these would carry the club quite a distance from home.

Neither Bryan Morse, Director of Student Activities, nor Mr. King-Smith, director of the club, have made an authoritative or definite statement about the tour, but are still considering the matter.

DR. MUNROE ADDRESSES G.W.C.S. ON SAFETY FIRST

Explosive Expert Portrays To Prospective Chemists Dangers of Carelessness in Laboratories.

One of the most interesting meetings of the year was held by the Chemical Society on Wednesday, February 2, 1921. The date upon which the Cherry Tree pictures are to be taken was decided upon. Mr. Corey was elected secretary to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Morawski.

The talk of the evening was given by Dr. Charles E. Munroe, one of the greatest experts on explosives. His subject was "Safety First," and he directed the attention of the society to the importance of being exact in the laboratory. He cited a great many instances where lack of precision resulted in grave disasters.

An excellent feed, served by the young ladies of Phi Sigma sorority, awaited the members at the conclusion of the business of the evening. The refreshments were enjoyed very much and everybody went home convinced that the young ladies are eminently qualified in the field of domestic science.

TO ORGANIZE G. W. U. ART SOCIETY FEBRUARY 16

Many Excellent Projects Are Being Planned—All Students Interested In Art Requested To Attend.

On Wednesday evening, February 16, the George Washington University Art Society will hold its organization meeting in the chapel of Lisner Hall at 7:45 p. m. This date of meeting was decided upon at an informal meeting held by those most interested in the project on February 2, at which time the objects and plans of the club were outlined and the next meeting planned.

PROM TICKETS WILL ADMIT
HOLDERS TO JUNIOR PLAY

every night, and, considering the capabilities of the man who is directing it, the play gives every indication of being a whizz.

The tickets to the play retail for six bits, or, to the uninitiated, seventy-five cents, devoid of all war tax and government revenue. The play committee, having adopted the one-price method, announces no cut in the wholesale price. Except, and please note, to those people who sell twenty tickets. The class will give a pair of cardboard tickets to the persons who succeed in selling twenty tickets, a clear percentage of ten. The ticket sales will be handled through Miss Marie O'Dea, who will set up quarters in the library to accommodate all comers.

The story of the play concerns a young lady, married, who has an inherent fondness and adeptness at telling "fibs." This young lady is a very sweet, demure child, who loves her husband, but who doesn't realize what a mess she's getting into until too late. She tries to reconcile an estranged couple by vamping the man, and when he is almost beyond hope of recovery lecturing him on the sweetness of happy married life. Inconsistent? Yes; but then she's a woman. However, the man refuses to listen to her pleas and continues to endeavor to make her fall in love with him.

Now enters hubby, a frank ingenious, hard-headed, sincere (gee, we're out of adjectives) business man. Hubby is set upon by the wife of the man who has been vamped, and is told countless stories about his wife's devotions and attentions. He refuses to believe them at first (the fool), but when he finds them all too true, he abruptly parts company for Boston, leaving wife in tears and sadness.

Now, wife has a papa (natural, now that we think of it), and her papa has a fondness for gambling, cards and horses, too, and, consequently, is ever in need of money. He has migrated from his datter's happy Noo Yawk home to Baltimore, and there taking into his confidence and trust a socially climbing and grasping landlady, one Mrs. Crespigny. Well, papa has, by his constant demands for lucre, helped to cause the ructions between his datter and her hubby. So when hubby does the runaway stunt, wife packs and hikes to Baltimore, there to stay with papa. Papa is in a quandary, between his landlady, to whom he owes money, and his daughter, to whom he owes protection and fatherly love. Distract between the two ladies (who wouldn't be?) papa wires for hubby, and when hubby comes—but we won't tell you any more. Come and see the play, and find how hubby is taken in or how he spurns the offers of reconciliation.

We might add a bit of advice for the ladies of the University, were it not that we are a mere man, and scared. We might say that we advise all the ladies at G. W. who can borrow, steal, or vamp a man, to come and see the play. We are not certain but that they might learn a few things in the way of fibbing; not that we mean to insinuate that the ladies here ever do that—no, no; but still we are anxious to have them learn a few new ones to try on us next time, we being so tired of the old ones.

The Junior Play, at the Central High School Auditorium, Monday evening, February 28, 1921. O Boy! Let's go!

THETA DELTA CHI.

Frank H. Buck, '07, made his annual visitation to the charge on Tuesday, February 1. Arriving at the Union Station from Charlottesville, Va., he was met by a delegation of ten composed of undergraduates and graduates. At 1 p. m. a dinner was held at the University Club, at which more than 30 Washington Theta Deltas attended. A sight-seeing trip followed; after which Buck was the guest at a dinner given at the charge house. President Buck later in the evening officiated in the unveiling of a war memorial to the 78 Chi Deuteron men in the service.

KAPPA SIGMA.

Alpha Eta Chapter gave a smoker Saturday, February 5. A large number of guests and members, including alumni were present. A Kappa Sigma, an alumni member of the chapter at the Colorado School of Mines, gave an interesting account of a hunting trip in Africa, from which he has lately returned. Eddie Brown contributed to the entertainment of the evening with a song delivered in the style of a Coney Island cabaret singer, and some dancing. Refreshments were served at 11:45, and the smoker broke up about three-quarters of an hour later.

Capt. Hatcher, of the visiting basketball team, a Kappa Sigma from the University of Virginia, was a guest at the house.

Capt. Crit Toleman, formerly of the Colorado School of Mines and a Kappa Sigma of the chapter at that institution, is a guest at the house. Capt. Toleman was in the air service during the war. He has recently returned from a hunting trip in Africa. He returned by way of Cape Town and while in South Africa visited the gold mines in Rhodesia and the diamond mines at Kimberly.

Alpha Eta will give an alumni dance for the initiates on Saturday, February 12.
